

Friend Fries

Noodles delivers an old van to a fast food restaurant called "Friend Fries", the restaurant wants them to accompany the driver down the mountain to finish the delivery

Setting: Fast Food Island

Establishing shot: "Friend Fries" sign. A store that sells potato themed foods. The camera pans down to the clerk talking to a skeleton man

The skeleton talks in a weird shaky voice

Skeleton: Do you sell fren fries

Cashier: Uh, yeah we sell friend fries

Skeleton: Can I have a fren fry please

Cashier: One friend fry coming up!

The cashier hands the skeleton one french fry. The skeleton takes it and starts to munch on it as it walks away

Skeleton: Ohhh, I love frens fris

Noodles and Dimples walk up to the cashier

Noodles: Hi, we're here for the Friend Fry delivery?

Cashier: Oh, wonderful! Follow my son over here, he'll help drive you to the destination

Noodles: Drive? We're a sea delivery company, we deliver by sea

Cashier: That's fine! But the thing is, little Takashi over here apparently can't drive. He needs adults to accompany him

They start walking together into the back of the restaurant

Takashi: That's not fair, dad

Cashier: Little baby Takashi thinks that just because someone crashed into him, he's off the hook. But if you were a better driver, you could have taken that crash, couldn't you Takashi?

Takashi: Whatever

The cashier turns on the lights and we see parts of the silhouette of the car

Cashier: Anyways, here's the car

Noodls: .... Hmm, it's...

Dimples: I mean, I like it

Cut to the mountain roads, it's quiet. Until a red race car zooms past the camera.

Cut to inside the car. A blonde guy with a shirt that says #1#2

Race guy: Ah yes... The road I practice every night. I am a racer and thus I must race. I am undefeated, except for my bigger brother, who has defeated me multiple times.

Race guy looks in the side view mirror, there is a glimmer

Race guy: Hmm?

The camera zooms in and reveals the silhouette of a van

Race guy: Another car? A challenger no doubt. No matter, I will crush him, and show him who is the top number two.

Suddenly the van is much closer. Eurobeat starts?

Race guy: Huh? How did he get so close? And what's with that van? What kind of model is that? No matter. It'll all be over in this next corner.

Race guy shifts gears and starts to drift. The cars both drift around the corner right next to each other, and Race guy get's a better view of the van

Race guy: *ghasp* what's with this van?? And what are those mods? It's too top-heavy!!

The camera shows the van, being overly tall, and the extra bumpers on the roof of the van

Race guy: I am the number one second-place racer on all of this part of the mountain!! I cannot lose to this van!! This calls for my famous "bump". All I have to do is turn the steering wheel a little extra. Like SO!!

The cars smash together, but we don't see the collision. We only hear it, and see Race guy's reaction during. When he looks to the right again, the car is gone. He smiles cheekily, assuming the van is now far behind him. But then he gasps as he sees the van is now on the other side of his car.

(We don't see it, but the van, being top heavy and built to roll, rolled over his car once he slammed into it)

Race Guy: WHAT?? I don't understand!!

The van starts to overtake him

Race guy: And he's not slowing down?? Doesn't he know this road at all? There's a ravine around the corner!! He has a death wish!!

The van turns slightly to the left, then slams into the railing in the next turn. It rolls over the railing and bounces on the ground, jumping the ravine. The camera cuts a million times to show replays from alternate angles

Race guy: CONTROLLED CRASHING!?!?

Race guy hits the brakes and watches the van drive away on the other side of the ravine. He sheds a single tear.

Race guy: That doesn't even make physical sense... I never had a chance.

Inside the car, Takashi is driving quietly as if nothing happened. Dimples and Noodles are clambering to the walls.

Noodles: What the hell was that?? How didn't you spill any of the french fries?? Who the hell was that guy in the red car??

Takashi looks unbothered

Takashi: Huh? Red car?

Dimples throws up.