

They knew that they were so lucky to have found each other. Dating and trying to find the right person for you is always difficult but these two just stumbled upon each other and never looked back.

Unlike most couples, they find no excitement in regular sex. They had both tried it a couple of times with other people and it never stirred them as it should. But there was one thing that excited them.

Wearing diapers and using them became their form of sexual activity together. They would snuggle up tight together in bed and fill their diapers up at the same time. Lying close they felt and ran their hands around each other's warm, squishy dirty diaper.

It was never long before they were making out and thrusting their thick used diapers into the others, rubbing them together until a wave of orgasmic relief rushed over both of them!

Still wearing nothing but their used pink diapers, they got up kissed once more and carried on as normal.

