For now, the calendar consists of 1 long animation and several short animations every month. Approximately, one or two short animation every week, depending on the complexity of the project. But this format is likely to change in the future. Parallel to these projects, there will be an animation featuring League of Legend characters every month, but the project is yet to be finalized.

In other words, every month will be published 1 long animation and between 5 or 6 short animations, but this number is not correctly definable at the moment.

Projects

Usually long animations are designed to be divided into three parts, which will be published at different times of the year, and have an average duration of two minutes each.
